

Chapter 3 Summary

- Taken separately, the three SAT domains (structural, attitudinal, and transactional) have an established impact, from the perspectives of both theory and practice, on the ability to build peace.
- Taken together, the three SAT domains have a synergistic effect; interventions that combine impact across the three domains appear to increase program effectiveness.